

Are you a multi-talented, innovative person? Are you looking for a challenging and rewarding position where you can not only contribute to, but create the future of your company? Then keep reading...

Angus Reid Strategies™ is a group of the best and brightest thinkers that help organizations answer the big questions using the latest technology and market research techniques. For clients this means a new freedom to engage consumers and for respondents it's about being emancipated from the tedium and confines of traditional survey research. The organization is led by Angus Reid, who for over 30 years has worked with public and private sector organizations throughout North America. Our growth has created opportunities for:

Market Research Associate
Montreal

This is a great opportunity to learn from some of the best senior level market researchers in the industry, and grow your career with us! You will assist on managing custom research projects including questionnaire design, sample selection, coordinating programming needs, data collection and analysis.

The ideal candidate will have a university degree (graduate degree is preferred) with exposure to the principles of market research including both quantitative and qualitative methodologies. You are an analytic thinker, with exposure to statistics and analytical methodologies. You are known for your attention to detail, the ability to see the story in the numbers, and for superior communication and writing skills. You are also fully bilingual in the French and English languages. An expert knowledge of Excel and PowerPoint is a definite asset.

Please send in confidence your resume in electronic form (text or PDF) to careers@angus-reid.com

Visit us online at www.angusreidstrategies.com